

Norfolk, VA – April 17, 2008 -- Dataline LLC announced today that it has named Bill Gerety as its President and Chief Executive Officer. As a recognized technologist, strategist, and business leader in the Federal market space, Bill brings more than 20 years of engineering, management, and marketing experience to Dataline.

"Bill is the right leader at the right time for Dataline," said Christopher Melton, Co-Chairman of the Dataline Board. "His extensive technology background and vision for the potential of our market segment complement the efforts that we are making in defining our leadership position in the Federal Information Technology market space. His strong management experience will help shape Dataline as we continue our growth and target market expansion."

"I am pleased to join Dataline during this period of growth and expansion. It will be both an exciting and challenging period of transformation for the company", says Bill. "With the support of the talented team that already exists here, I am ready to meet the challenges head-on and support the company by defining a vision and strategy that complement an already aggressive growth plan."

While recently serving as a mobilized Reservist in the Office of the Chief Information Officer/G-6, United States Department of the Army, Bill brought innovation and clarity to Army Enterprise Business practices. Among his achievements, Bill initiated and implemented the process-based business transformation of the entire CIO/G-6 Directorate, initiated and managed the Army's service level positioning of cyber network operations, and created the CIO/G-6's first ever Strategic Plan. Bill also served as the President and Chief Executive Officer for both Spacenet, Inc. and Astrolink International LLC; and, he has served as an executive in companies such as Facilicom, Interdyn, and Sprint.
